Hello Phyllis,

The intent of the application was to request a renewal of five years: two years to treat the soil to the targets concentrations, and an additional three years to complete the monitoring requirements for closure of the facility.

You might recall a telephone conversation we had where we reviewed the application document together. Regarding the term of renewal, I was confused as to whether or not I could request a renewal term of more than two years – so that the licence would not have to be renewed again before the estimated closure date. You explained that I could request any term below the maximum allowable period (25 years) stated on the renewal application form.

While originally completing the renewal application and preparing the summary letter I had originally requested a two year renewal term. After our conversation I edited the application to request for a five year term, and failed to make the same edits in the summary letter.

I apologize for the inconvenience. The summary letter provided with the application should have stated that the requested renewal period is five years.

Regards,

Ciro Longobardi

Please confirm term requested for the renewal of the above. The application indicates a term of 5 years, whereas the supporting documents indicate a term of 2 years.
