Good day Evan, sorry for the delay in responding to your email. My suggestion would be to file an application with us, along with your supporting documentation. We can then do a better assessment on whether or not a water licence is required. Normally any use of water or deposition of waste requires a licence. If any culverts are proposed this would also trigger a DFO Authorization. If the road extends beyond the Hamlet boundaries then NPC would be required to do a conformity. This would also involve the Nunavut Impact review Board. I hope this information helps. Please also consider contacting David Hohnstein, Director of Technical Services for additional information, dts@nunavutwaterboard.org
Regards,

Hey Phyllis,

Per our conversation, Im looking to get approval from the Nunavut Water Board for the Diane River Trail Project.

Here is the application we plan to submit to ED&T with all of the information we have so far for the project.

Let me know if you need anything else.
