

The Water Licence Application (Application) before the Nunavut Water Board (NWB) on January 22, 2014 for the Petroleum System Upgrades, Coral Harbour, Nunavut includes just one activity:

- hydrostatic testing and the use of water for this activity,
- No waste or waste deposit activities are indicated on the Application.

The NWB notes that there is a difference in the scope of the project in both Applications submitted to the NWB and to the NIRB.

We would like to indicate that if a Water Licence is issued based on the current Water Licence Application, the scope of the Licence will be limited to use of water and no deposit of waste will be allowed. In order to proceed with the Application, the NWB requested confirmation that the Applicant is satisfied with that scope and has no intention to amend the presentation before the NWB.

If the Applicant decides to amend the proposal submitted to the Board, the following shall be submitted:

- an updated scope (Application Summary) including all the Project activities that would require water consumption or generate waste disposal;
- update Water Licence Application with new information including additional water use/consumption and waste disposal as reflected on blocks 14 & 15 of the water licence application;
- A Project Spill and Contingency Plan addressing those activities.

If the Applicant decides to amend the Application the first Application will be considered cancelled and the new amended Application will be subjected to a new Technical Review where interested parties will be invited to comment.
