Kevin: It appears that Community and Government Service, Planning and Lands Section have reached an agreement with the Nunavut Impact Review Board regarding the treatment of "industrial activity" and "bulk fuel storage" in paragraph 3 of Schedule 12.1, and the screening of water/sewer projects.

We will use your definition of "industrial activity" that you provided on May 23, 2007 and then apply the following inclusion and exclusion lists that we developed together:

Industrial Activity, refers to all those activities whose aim is the manufacture, assembly or processing of goods or commodities or the exploitation of natural resources.

residential occupations - meaning any occupation, trade, profession, commercial service, day care or craft carried on by an occupant of a residential building or a use secondary to the residential use of the building.

The definition of bulk fuel storage shall be the following definition that you provided during our discussions on this subject:

"Bulk storage of fuel" within an established municipality shall be defined as storage of fuel for resupply or resale but does not include individual residential or commercial users storing less than 80,000L.

Our position on the screening of sewage lagoons, water treatment facilities and solid waste disposal sites within the municipal boundary shall remain the same. We are in agreement that these projects will be sent to NRC if there is the possibility of cumulative effects (referred to in Article 12.4.3) and in the situation where the project is not exempt from 12.4.5. In the absence of a Regional Land Use Plan the project proposals would be sent directly to NIRB in both circumstances.

We will prepare a Directive that will be circulated to our regional staff outlining our agreement with regards to the above noted definitions and procedures. Nevertheless, we do not see this significantly changing our current procedures, but it will eliminate uncertainty for the planners and lands administrators in Nunavut. Adding these new arrangements to NIRB's Guidelines for Proponents, and the public will help to ensure that the appropriate projects are being sent to NIRB for screening. Proceeding with these changes, by way of information, important provides flexibility which will allow CGS and NIRB to negotiate changes as required without any bureaucratic obstructions.
