As a result of us spending time answering INAC's late Type B submission we believe we will not have our Type A responses ready this week. We also acknowledge that the same reviewing parties are likely tied up on our Type B responses and we would rather they complete that work, as it is the most time sensitive, and then move on to the Type A.

As such Sabina wishes to advise NWB that we will respond to all Type A Comments on Monday, February 5th. In addition we can confirm that we will respond to INAC's Type B's later today. Also note that Sabina has engaged INAC to ensure we provide adequate responses to their Type B comments and that they will complete their review in a day or two.

If this causes any concerns please let me know.

Many thanks, Matthew
