Hello,

Unfortunately, not all deviations are discussed in the QA/QC reports and/or technical memoranda. The Licence requires the provision of information on "how such deviations may affect performance of engineered structures".

In addition, could Agnico please provide a list of appendices and their locations in relation to the parts of the documents as submitted.

Best regards,
Assol

Hi,

All change are discussed in the as-built report. Generally only design change are documented in separate technical memorandum while field adjustment are approved by the QA and documented in QA reporting and the as-built report.

CAUTION: EXTERNAL

Hello Cassandra,

It has taken us a while to download the files due to the size, so I am reaching out now. Would you please provide more information in accordance with Schedule D, Item 1(d) of the Licence? There were several technical memoranda provided; however, they do not discuss all changes marked as "approved" in the RFI list.

Thank you,
Assol
