9. DESCRIPTION OF UNDERTAKING

Does the proposed amendment change the description of the undertaking?

■ Yes ☐ No

List and attach plans and drawings or project proposal. Identify proposed changes.

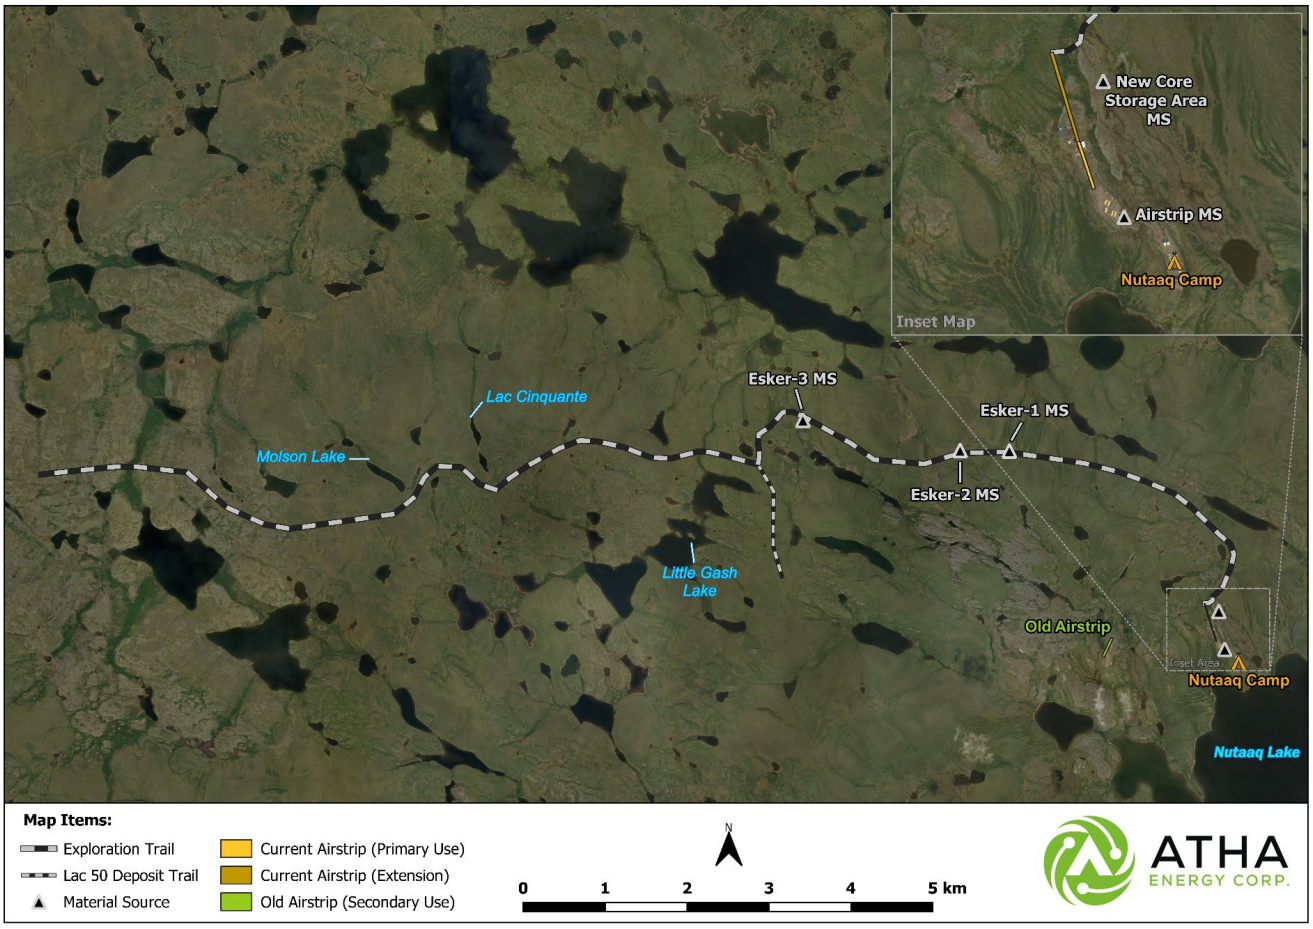

To improve late-stage exploration drilling efficiency and reduce costs at the Lac 50 Deposit, reduce green house gas emissions, improve safety for personnel and decrease reliance on helicopters, in 2026 to 2027, ATHA is planning to:

- Construct low profile exploration trails from the Nutaaq camp to the Lac 50 zone,
- Extended the primary airstrip,
- Increase the number of Weatherhavens at Nutaaq camp to accommodate 20 additional personnel, and
- Use of bladders for storage of fuel.

Below provides the location and route of the trail. Additional detail of the project and figures are provided in the NWB project description document attached.

As a result, ATHA has updated the following plans to reflect these amended activities.

- Spill Contingency Plan, Angilak Property
- Environmental and Wildlife Management Plan, Angilak Property
- Radiation Hazard Control Plan, Angilak Property
- Abandonment and Restoration Plan, Angilak, Property

10. OPTIONS

Does the proposed amendment change any of the alternative methods and locations that were considered to carry out the project?

■ Yes ☐ No

Provide a brief explanation of the alternative methods or locations that were considered to carry out the project. Identify proposed changes.

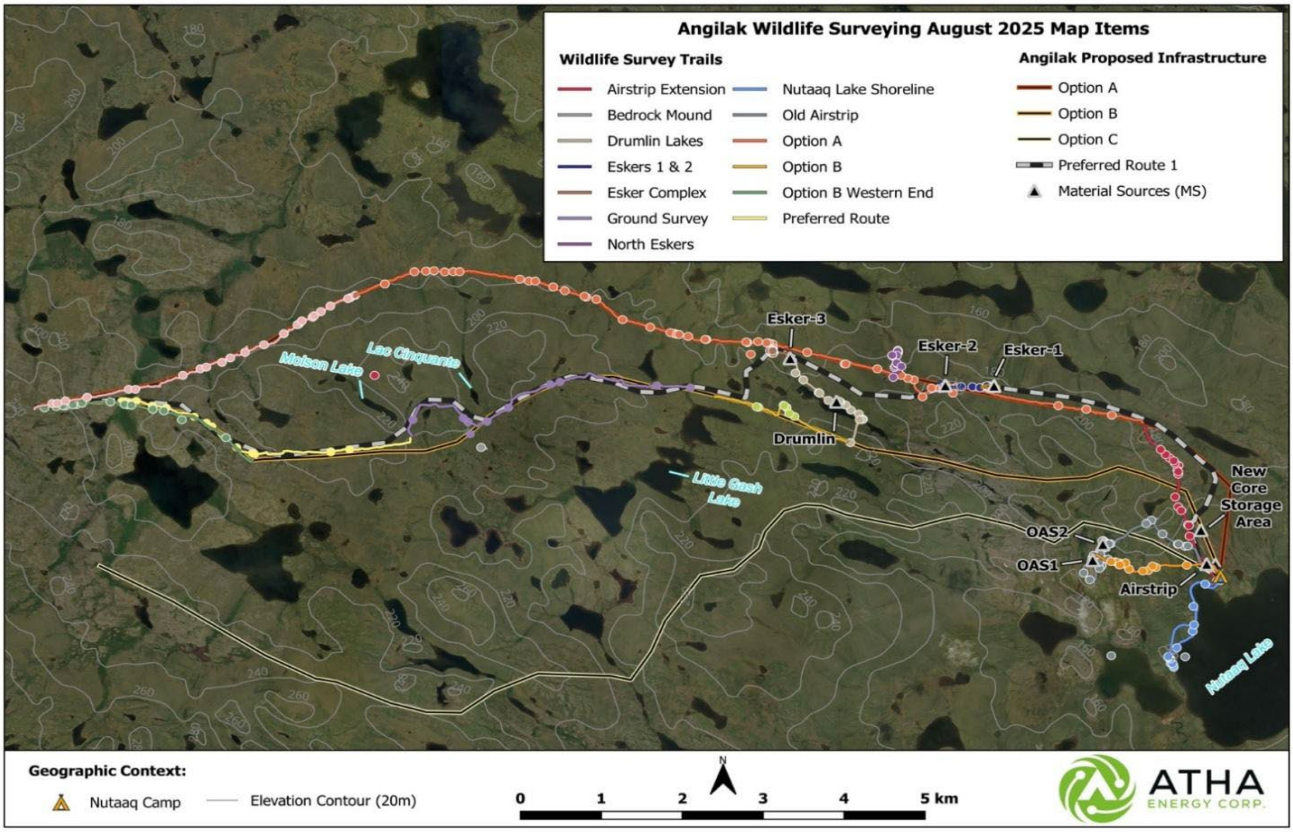

ATHA has considered alternatives to the routing of the proposed Exploration Trail and the related environmental impacts, as summarized in Table 2-2. In this case, the identified alternatives are a “Do Nothing” Scenario or construct a longer trail following the height of land to the south and west of Lac 50 area, which would require additional material or hard rock quarry sources.

Table 2-1: Project alternatives and summary of environmental impacts

Alternative	Summary of Impacts
Do nothing (continue using helicopters for transporting personnel and materials to drills at Lac 50).	- No reduction in onsite emission of greenhouse gases from helicopter access to the drills. - An increase in onsite emission of other combustion-related stack gases (e.g. SVOCs) due to camp fuel transfers. - No improved safety to Lac 50 area.
Use height of land trail on a southern route (referred to as option C) that crosses through outcrop.	- Longer trails resulting in more land disturbance - Additional material requirement and quarry use, rather than esker sources. - Additional headwater stream crossings.

Three trail route alternatives were initially evaluated: a northern route (Option A), a central height-of-land route (Option B), and a southern route with numerous small stream crossings (Option C) (refer to figure below) . Option B was discounted due to challenging outcrop and hilly terrain, higher material requirements, and multiple headwater stream crossings, while Option C presented similar drawbacks. A combined Option A/B alignment was ultimately selected for its more uniform tundra-heath and graminoid terrain, reduced construction complexity, fewer stream crossings to the Lac 50 area, and proximity to several eskers suitable for use as material sources.

As a result, at this stage of the project, the preferred route was selected as illustrated in the Figure in block 9 and plans have been made to construct a low-profile exploration trail west of Nutaaq camp, along with potential spur trails toward Little Gash Lake.

A preferred exploration trail route for Advanced Mineral Exploration at Lac 50 area was selected based on criteria that limit effects on terrain, water, wildlife, and cultural or archaeological sites, with most potential impacts avoided through careful planning. The low-profile trail will also lessen helicopter use for drilling support, reducing GHG emissions and other combustion-related pollutants while improving operational efficiency and safety. No significant environmental effects nor cumulative effects associated with water and waste are expected.
Standard mitigation, monitoring, and updated management plans will guide construction, operation, and closure. Key measures include avoiding streams, sensitive habitats, and heritage sites; maintaining 31 m water buffers; minimizing ground disturbance; applying erosion, sediment, and dust controls; completing in-stream work only within DFO timing windows; conducting archaeological surveys and applying 30 m buffers; preventing spills through proper fuel handling and containment; implementing wildlife protections such stop-work procedures, and avoiding caribou periods following the mobile caribou mitigation measures; using esker sources designed for proper drainage and closure; and fully reclaiming the trail by removing structures, stabilizing materials, restoring drainage, and encouraging natural revegetation.
