Hello Phyllis,

Thanks for the query. Canada Coal was scheduled to visit Grise Fiord the week of October 28, 2013 for community consultation, after which point a revised application package would have gone out to NIRB, NWB, AANDC, and the QIA.

Our current deadline to resubmit the application is November 12, 2013. Canada Coal was approached several weeks back by various agencies (including QIA) to broaden the scope of the planned community consultation session. We are now organized to visit the community next week (November 13 departure) and we will have representatives from QIA and AANDC in attendance along with the Grise Fiord Council, CLARC, and HTO reps.

Canada Coal has informally approached NIRB regarding obtaining one final extension to resubmit revised project applications due to the delayed community consultation meeting and the chances of an extension being granted look promising. The extension request will be formalized by the end of this week.

The company will do its best to obtain a document from the community stating that their water concerns have been addressed. If such a document is not possible for whatever reason, Canada Coal will submit to the NWB documentation as to how water concerns have been addressed, along with a formalized water management plan, and a revised water licence application (which reflects smaller volumes of water being used over the project duration and monitoring/management of water sources and water distribution).

Thank-you and please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions in the meantime.

Kind regards,

Susan O'Donnell, P.Geol.,
