Coronation Minerals Inc. presently holds a water license for a diamond drilling operation in the Dismal Lake area of Nunavut. Logistical and staff availability problems prevented the company from conducting the operation during the summer of 2004.

They are now requesting to an renewal of their existing water license so that they can complete the program in the fall of 2005. All other features of the program will be the same as approved in 2003 by the Nunavut Water Board except the timing.
