For clarification, Sean, Deborah claims (below) that YOU waived the requirements in a phone conversation on August 29 2013, presumably after receiving the August 23 letter that you just attached. So I think it would be best if it be you that respond to her e-mail from Monday (please confirm that you received it, and it's in the thread below).

Thanks,
Eva

Hi Eva,

Thank you for keeping me informed of the recent developments on this file.

I must say that I am not sure, to the fullest extent, of the nature or context of discussion(s) that you and the representative(s) at Dimondex Resources Ltd. (Diamondex) may have had; however, I have attached a copy of the NWB's correspondence that was issued to Diamondex on August the 23, 2013, outlining outstanding NWB requirements, for information purposes.

Based on information contained on the NWB's FTP site, it appears that Dimondex has not responded the NWB's August 23, 2013 correspondence to date.

Further, to address any perceived ambiguity surrounding the administration or the NWB's handling of the file, it should be noted that I am unaware of any cases where NWB's technical staff members have wave requirements to water licences, which are legal documents, by way of a telephone conversation. Only the Board has authority to wave requirements that are embedded in licences.

Regards,

Sean

Hi Sean,

If what Deborah is saying is true, as a future practice, can the Technical Advisors please document and copy the Inspector when any requirements are waived, so that we can avoid this kind of circular discussion?

Thank you,

Eva Paul

Sean,

In our telephone conversation on August 29, 2013, you waived the requirement for further filings with regards to this permit and advised that the only remaining matter was the final inspection from Eva and/or Baba.

With this now in hand, I will await your letter of closure.

Deborah

P.S. I would also like to thank everyone for their continued efforts. Thank you!
