

Honey Badger Silver Inc. is applying to the Nunavut Water Board for an Authorization to Use Water and Dispose of Waste Without a Licence in order to complete a preliminary mineral exploration program planned for the summer of 2026.

The proposed program would involve a four-person field crew utilizing a helicopter to conduct general exploration activities, including geological mapping, prospecting, and rock sampling, over approximately two weeks during July or August 2026. Operations will either be supported directly from Yellowknife or from either B2Gold's Goose Mine or George Lake camps. A temporary fly camp with a small fuel cache (< 4,000 L total, including Jet, diesel and gasoline), will also be established to support field activities. The exact camp location has not yet been finalized but will be located within the Yava Project mineral claims. Although there is a minor overlap with Inuit Owned Land along the edge of the property due to the NMS grid staking system, all project activities will be restricted to Crown land.

All fuels will be stored in secondary containment with spill kits with firefighting equipment readily accessible nearby. Water for the camp will be drawn from a nearby waterbody using a small gasoline-powered submersible pump equipped with a fine intake screen to help prevent fish entrainment. All solid waste will be collected and transported off-site to either Yellowknife or the Goose Mine camp for proper disposal. Greywater will be directed into a temporary excavated sump or suitable natural depression positioned down slope of the source in such a manner where direct flow into a waterbody or watercourse is not possible and no additional impacts created. Sewage will be managed in a temporary excavated sump. Any sump or natural depressions utilized will be located at least 31 metres from the ordinary high water mark of any waterbody.
