Hello Richard,

Thank-you for sharing the applicant's responses, they are clear and address Crown-Indigenous Relations and Northern Affairs Canada's comments.

The response to our comment #6 on the water treatment plant manual requested clarifications, and we have communicated with Sarah Collins at the GN to sort out the issue. There is no overland discharge pipe at the water treatment plant and it's mention in the manual is likely a mistake.

CIRNAC recommends that the technical review period allow at least two weeks to review the feasibility studies for the upgrades to the sewage lagoon and solid waste facilities. They are expected on January 8, 2021 and the information they could contain on disposal of waste to water will be important for the review.

Please do not hesitate to contact me for clarifications,

Regards,

Sarah
