Dear Philippe,

Our office received a telephone call from an Iqaluit citizen, Mr. William McKenzie (telephone 979-3911), who complained that the Town of Iqaluit was possibly in violation of the NWT Waters Act while currently developing tracts of land in the area of the Road to Nowhere. It appears, from the verbal report, that streams were previously altered, drainage has been diverted to Catherine Lake, and that there is potential for release of sediments or contaminants into the lake. This would suggest that an approval from the NWB would be required.

There is very little information at our disposal, but as our Board is not involved in inspection or enforcement, I would appreciate if you could report to our office and to Mr. McKenzie directly on the situation and request that the Town file an application with our Board, if required to do so by legislation.

Thank you in advance for your immediate attention.

Philippe di Pizzo
