Hi Erik

To answer you questions.

Correct, we only process one application at a time, but the Cities Application process was completed in early September so the Solid Waste Facility amendment can be submitted once the application package is complete. Basically we will need an application for amendment with the Engineering design drawings that are for permitting purposes. The drawings for construction can actually be submitted after the issuance/approval of the amendment, and 60 days prior to the start of construction.

Note that the NWB doesn't provide any comments on draft engineering designs and our process is not designed to comment on draft design submissions, i.e. we do not comment on the engineering work itself, just that it is complete and been approved by a qualified engineer. We require that plans for construction be submitted with an engineers stamp and signature.

Let me know if you have any further questions.

Regards, Derek
