Thank you Richard for your Email,

As detailed in our submitted action plan (dated 7 June 2018), We obtained samples from the influent and effluent of the lagoon during the test period. The testing results of these samples showed that the lagoon, as a treatment unit, is performing much better than the existing WWTP.

The Sludge survey to determine the capacity of the lagoon is scheduled to be completed by the end of next week. The surveyor and the consultant will require at least two weeks to process the collected data and provide a technical memorandum that will be shared with NWB and all the related stake holders. We will schedule a meeting with all the stakeholders in the week starting September 10th, to update the stakeholders and discuss the test results of the collected samples. Therefore, to be able to provide a proper technical response, we would like you to accept that our response with the related technical analysis to be submitted back to you by September 28, 2018.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or comments.

Thanks,

Best Regards,

Eslam Maher, M. Eng, PMP, CCCA
