Hi Scott

Thanks for your email.

The assessment of the abandoned Project site by an INAC Inspector (a site final Inspection Report) is required; however, in order to cancel a water licence there are more requirements than that.

The first step in the water licence cancellation process is for the Licensee to submit a water licence application for cancellation. Upon receipt, the NWB performs an administrative review on the file to assess whether there is any issue pending.

Next, the NWB conducts a public review of the cancellation application by giving public notice of the application and inviting interested persons to make representations. After all parties, including INAC have provided their written conformity or no objection for the file to be cancelled, an INAC Final Inspection Report is requested. Finally, if there are not objections, the file is closed.

Regards

Sonia

Hello Sonia,

I have not submitted this yet as I cannot get AANDC to give me closure documents for the project that are required for the cancellation application. They won't do this until the project is done and inspected, which may be a number of years away. I forwarded their response on this matter to your office last month.

Regards,

Scott

Hi Scott

On October 21, 2015 you sent an email to the nwb, requesting the cancellation of water licence 3BC-CBA1015 .

In order for the nwb to process the application for cancellation, a complete application must be submitted to the NWB. There is not record at the nwb ftp site that you have provided the nwb with a cancellation application.

I have attached a form to this email. Please, complete it and send the it to either Ida or myself.

Regards

Sonia Aredes
