Hello, Ida. I'm very pleased to report that my project doesn't require an NIRB screening (please see below), so that takes care of NIRB and NPC, and I assume my water licence application can go forward. Very best wishes, Max Friesen.

Hi Max,

The Nunavut Impact Review Board does not require screening when a conformity determination isn't required by NPC, therefore, your project does not need screening by the NIRB.

Thanks, Maria.

At the end of this email is a forwarded determination from NPC that this project does not require input from them.

Just to clarify, am I right in thinking that you now need me to send a copy of the KIA license application directly to you?

All the best, Max.

Hi Max,

In order for NIRB to screen your project proposal, NIRB will need a conformity determination from the authorizing agency, in your case, NPC conformity and KIA application.

Good luck with your project.

Good afternoon, email is to confirm that the above listed project proposal does not fall within the boundaries of an approved land use plan. No conformity determination required by the NPC.

Any questions, concerns, please do not hesitate.

Hello, Ida.

Attached are the various pieces for my application. I've updated the application form with the full degrees, minutes, and decimal minutes, and a new map showing camp locations is attached to the application. I think I've included everything else you need, including scans of the cheques. I will put a hard copy of everything, including original cheques, into the mail today.

By the way, in case it comes up, I will be applying for a Nunavut archaeology permit to perform this work.

Thanks, and best wishes, Max.
