To Whom It May Concern:

I am an environmentalist at heart, so everything I do on the land, I try to be as clean as possible, to the point of picking up everything that doesn't belong on the land that I see. In saying that, everything I do at Ekaluk river is just that. I have gasoline that I use for my generators, that is the closest thing I have at my camp that could be harmful to the environment, but I keep my gas supply in 5 gallon containers, so if there is a spill it would more likely not be enough to harm anything but I would clean it up pretty quick by collecting all the affected soil and burning it off, but I would also phone the environment personal and see what more I can do. Their number is 1-867-920-8130, which is also posted at my camp. I use propane for heat and cooking so hopefully that there will never be accident concerning propane, I do have all our cabins and cooking facilities with as up to date as possible with fire extinguishers.

Very unfortunate, this past summer was not a very good one for my little fly-fishing operation. The commercial fishing operation decided to move their fishermen and all of their operation below my fish camp without my knowledge and the world class fishing came to a sudden stop, hopefully someone will decide next summer that it will move back to where it was or I may not open.

Sincerely,

W. L. Lyall (Bill)
