Dear Ida and Robin,

Here at Polar Knowledge Canada we intend to have a field camp in Cambridge Bay, on the northern shore of Greiner Lake.

I am wondering about the procedure of applying for approval for the use of water or deposit waste without a licence.

Is there a newer form to be completed, or the form used in the last few years is still good?

Where should I submit the completed form and all the supporting documentation for the application?

Can I email it to any of you?

Last year we submitted a similar application to several email addresses at NWB (included to Robin's).

We never received an acknowledgement of the receipt of the application, nor any other response concerning our application (for unrelated reasons, we ended up not having the camp).

We would like to avoid such a situation to occur this year as well, therefore we would greatly appreciate if you could inform us about the application procedure.

Thank you very much in advance

Johann Wagner
