TEAM MEMBERS: J. Wagner, I. Hogg

AFFILIATION: Polar Knowledge Canada

TITLE: Polar Knowledge Canada (POLAR) Camp on Greiner Lake, Cambridge Bay

OBJECTIVES OF RESEARCH:

In the winter months of early 2020, the two structures of the POLAR camp will serve as emergency shelters for both POLAR staff, and Cambridge Bay community members. Starting in May 2020, the POLAR camp will be prepared for the start of the summer field season by checking and fixing the possible damage to the existing structures that may have occurred during the winter. In June 2020, the summer field season activity will start in the camp. All-season individual tents will be installed in the camp. POLAR will continue a range of field research activities, and a number of visiting research scientists, their graduate students, as well as northern students will come to Cambridge Bay to conduct this research. Most of these research activities, as well as the deployed scientific instrumentation are on the northern shore of Greiner Lake in the IMA.

TERMS & CONDITIONS:

The holder of the licence will be bound by the terms and conditions of the Nunavut Impact Review Board Screening Decision Report and the Department of Culture & Heritage archaeological sites terms and conditions. These terms and conditions will form part of this licence.
